Impact Of COVID-19 On Legal Profession & Cyber Security

COVID-19 has engulfed our entire structure and way of working. Organizations are responding to the COVID-19 outbreak in different ways. Legal Professionals are facing a deep crunch as they are unable to carry on their work. To prevent further spread of COVID-19, many attorneys have sought to minimize in-person contact with existing and potential clients. Fortunately, attorneys are finding ways to implement effective precautions while still providing legal assistance to those who need it.

When the world of attorneys go online it will have a negative impact on the cyber security posture of businesses as well. This will be the result of new risks that emerge, but also of existing risks that are not going to be taken care of due to security budgets restrictions, and technology freezes designed to achieve stability in business operations. This video conference aims to discuss ways to mitigate cyber security risks emerging from Covid-19.
